President's Report: Good morning. I am super duper excited. Report listed by three groups. Engagement with campuses, partners, and guests. I've linked my report with additional detail. Went to various students governments. Hosted UCM at Davis to visit cultural centers. Lots of conference calls, UCOP. Press, many interviews and I wrote an op ed. Pluses and Deltas. Did a good job comm with partners and board. Regulating schedule as pres and entomology. Could have been more engaged with Exec, more responsive to email, planned campus visits in advance. Personal: got reading schedule: carries kindle with everyone there. Someone broke my kindle. Presentation at the exploratorium. In two weeks will compete at entomology for championship trivia.

Board Chair

Ralph Washington, Jr., UCSA President
President

I've been waiting for this for a month:
What is the purpose of a termite colony
Build, destroy algae, decompose wood to survive and reproduce
There is a process to this.
The product that we see is a big colony with lots of termites
Termites= Global Warning
Purpose and Product, process is how you go between the two
We need to understand our purpose

What is the purpose of UCSA

1. We value and uplift the importance of the student experience
We share experience, regardless of how we communicate
2. Student leadership- leaders are those who have power and authority, or leaders are those who uplift folks to reach their true potential
3. Student success in the way students define success

What is the process...

Conferences, trainings, board meetings, leaders
State and federal lobbying, engagement with UCOP, State of = tangible products
In a nonprofit like UCSA, we need to be acutely aware of our purpose and make sure our processes match that.
These meetings determines what UCSA does through resolutions, endorsements, committee meetings. Our interpersonal relations developed here are the most effective way our work gets done
Hungry, Angry, Lonely, Tired = acronym of emotions we experience which influence our interactions with each other

UCSA is doing important work, but can be challenging when our emotions (HALT) are not moderated.

We must practice self-care and check each other so that we are compassionate of each other's immediate lived experiences. We must be in the present and affirm each other in order to succeed together.

The product does not matter if we are not invested in the common purpose.

Gio: we appreciate this perspective, as an organizer in this space, I am thinking about being mindful of language, the history of UCSA (particularly in the organizing). We should not emphasize legislative victories over mobilizing students. We should be supporting students on the ground. Mobilizing students should be our first priority, especially with pending tuition hikes in January.

Rafi: I am encouraged when I remember that 99% of students aren't here. This helps me remember our purpose.

Ralph: We should be cognizant of the privilege to be here in this room.

Maiko: Along with the privilege of language around the student voice, international student have to adjust to the language, written contributions, and even structures that don't exist in other countries. No native speakers are also members and constituents of UCSA.

Kevin Bartram, Bartram Partnerships

Anais introduces Kevin Bartram: This project was initiated by the last board because students, especially at UCSB, called for us to look at other funding sources outside of SAGE.

Kevin B: Introduction. Want to help you to engage with corporations where both organizations benefit, and that is key. I have worked in a variety of institutions, corporations and universities alike. Create a relationship that does not compromise your integrity. Benefits can look like support in lobbying, internships, and a variety of different things. These corporations in turn have access to communications, campaigns, and events.

Express concerns about maintaining autonomy if corporations are involved with our organization.

Questions for Kevin:

Erika: I know allocating funds, in the past, with other orgs, regarding leeway, what is the criteria for companies accessing our space? We need to define what we're ok with and what we're not ok with. We need a mechanism for deciding things that are not included in the agreement.

Erika: Its important that we have do this.

Kevin: Companies also need to be sure that we can deliver on our promises. We need to understand what we're setting out to do.

Suher: Clarification: no company is perfect in investing, so why would we invest?

Kevin: This is how the world works, and if you don't want to interact with corporate world that's understandable. Large companies run the world.

Rafi: Are there other student association doing this?

Kevin: I'm not familiar with other associations that are multi campus, but individual campuses that do this. The idea is to give campus to do this because campus admin is already doing this. We could look at how other association are doing this.

Joseph: There is a two tier system at the UC that supports workers ie living wages and benefits, then there are outsourced contracting which do the same jobs but don't receive benefits. Working environment is not safe.

President releases plan where workers increase payment. There was no oversight. We need to enact real legislation that protects workers. This is to reaffirm the position of UCSA.

Rafi: The board voted on SB376, it was not unanimous, there was debate but its important to note that there is a cost which is 19 million dollars to no cost to the state, instead to students which was a principle concern. There are negative consequences.

The UC is supposed to be audited. We ask how they got this number with no reply. The UC will drive a wedge between workers and students instead of looking to where we can get money.

Nicolas: at ucsc we've had incidents of anti immigrant rhetoric. This happened before Triton day, and UC workers got rid of it. Where are these corporations getting these workers from. This not only affects workers it affects all folks at the UC. When we win it's because workers have been out there working with us.

Maria: Is there any dialogue within administrators in cutting salaries?

Joseph: There was a bill to cap salaries of admin. But we as 240,000 students can pressure them to do this.

Gio: Want to shed some light. This is an issue of white supremacy. One woman with several children was working in a lab with hiv needle. Another woman was working to clean radiation and getting exposed to radiation. Tuition is coming up and we need the UC to roll back and change its priorities.

Katrina: what is the actual cost of this and where can we get the money from?

Gio: This needs to pass today.

Jonathan: This would only restate an already established position on a government doc

M: Motion to extend time by 2

Rafi: thanks for making this place inclusive. Its nothing about the negative issues. Even if this is not 90 mill and with the regents voting on tuition this is a huge issue. We need a plan to address this issue taking into account that Regents will consider this proposal in their decision.

Joseph: We need to protect minority owned and run businesses...

In doing this we not only hold folks accountable but getting to know one another. The board can choose to do what it likes.

010min (10:10A) Discussion of Partnerships Program

Anais: This process started in October. We're not committed nor invested

B: Enter Disc.

Lauren: We're here fighting the privatization of the UC. "This is how the world works" is not sufficient for us to do the same.

Maiko: I have a question for treasurer and staff. If we push for Sage why do we need another financial model. Money is a good resource, but where is that money going to be allocated? Salary, more events? I spoke to Kevin and from my understand it would start with fundraising and partnership with him first. The only comment I have for Kevin is to not forget local and small business and potential partners. In our agenda bridging local community with the UC System be great to source local businesses. One comment I think Kevin made a good point: this could open job opportunities for students. I agree with you Lauren, so how can we produce this without sacrificing.

Parshan: Whatever corp we find will be "dirty" in some sense. When looking at the finances we barely make it through year to year. Every year we're trying to manage finding funding year to year. This is why the Sage Proposal is vital. Why the corp partnership was introduced was because the sage model will take time to reach fruition. So, how do we manage our finances in the meantime. I had an inquiry for Kevin too. We will have folks asking why we are doing this. I can't say I'm for it but I can't say there is no justification.

President: The person responsible would be the Operations Director in the new funding model.

Rafi: I share the concern about privatizing our organization. But we can choose those we partner with. At UCLA we're looking at calpers which helps with voter reg. Us moving forward doesn't mean we're committed.

UCB: A more important thing is to look at how indiv UC's can even enter these agreements.

MTET by R: 10 mins

Second:

Omer: I was talking to folks about issue based orgs. This plan has some potential.

Neha: I don't think we should shut down this idea, because it does have to be these huge corporate companies.

Taylor: I want to say looking at the proposal, I'm weary with the corp that were presented. Students already find these orgs unethical, he doesn't understand our org.

Geo: I asked Kevin about ethical investments. His specialty is in corporations and if we don't want that we'd be misusing our money. The language that's spoken in the corporate world compared to non profit, organizing groups.

Nushi: With reignite, having two campaigns it'd be ideal to have more funds, but settling for partnering with corp is a huge sacrifice. Izeah show us SRI.

Izeah: We're all corp and we should consider that if we can do well other corps can as well.

R: One of the reasons we solicited this is because SB and how much they contribute so if we don't want Kevin then we should move forward with another consultant.

Parsh: We are in need of money, whoever we work with, Kevin is considering what the board wants. Corp aren't inherently bad, but we can create our own criteria.

Maiko: What are we voting on today?

R: It would be yes, we want him to find us copr partners and we'd have to do something else.

Gio: It's important to know that we can allow the exec committee to find someone else.

R: Yes

Clara: This is a good reminder of the values UC has, and I'm glad we're considering our options. Its vital we keep whatever corp responsible and accountable. I think also in doing this it'll detract from our work for students.

Jonathan: How much are we spending?

TTET

Anais: $3000 a month.

R: We're paying him

Jonathan: I move that we continue his work and draft a proposal regarding transportation.

Lauren: I dont wanna pay folks for a slide show. I move we dont move forward with this consultant.

Nushi: I support this if we're being clear in the partnerships. No big corp.

We've been paying him since July so I echo Taylor in that they're problematic corporations. I'd like to find another consultant.

R: We paid him some money, do we want to continue to do so or find another person.

Maiko: Do we really need a consultant if we hire someone to do this full time.

R: MTET

Jonathan: Obj, too many time ext

Taylor: I have an important question.

A yes vote is we stop paying Kevin and we move forward with essentially with finding another folk. No then we continue paying Kevin.

Vote: EVPS only

The ayes have it, no more Kevin

R: Thanks for your patience.

015min (10:55A) Expansion of the Guardian Professions Program
Valerie Acevedo, VP External, UCI AGS

Valerie: Here to talk about Guardian Professions program: Expanding services for fostered youth. Currently available funding is $840,000 from various orgs. This is now a statewide program insofar that it's only available at UC Davis. Perhaps though we can expand this to other UC's. This provides various services to these youth. Some limitations are firstly that students cannot always get person to person assistance. Students have to have been in foster care in California. Have acquired significant funding. GPP is unique and effective and Stewart Foundation will help on the situation. Foster youth make up less than .7 percent of population of UC, .5 CSU. State just passed a measure for foster youth in K-12. Our program is dependant on funding sources so we need the help of students. I'd be happy to share my lived experiences regarding this topic personally.

Taylor: thanks for sharing, I'm also foster youth and I appreciate your representation. Accessibility to resources is limited as a foster youth. There is difficulty navigating resources.

Valerie: There are resources folks don't know access.

Ralph: Asked Taylor if they might talk about this in UG.
